

2017 Poems selected for Appleton's Sidewalk Poetry Program

By Ayden & Ezra Littman

Let's take the long way home.

By Jennifer Levenhagen

sometimes the silence is all we really needed to hear more clearly

By Ana Vicker

You struggle to understand
That a whole city
Can be lit up
By your happiness

By Karla Huston

Dogology

the song
is in his tail
little god
in his eyes
praise

By Sarah Burg

I have lived the unimaginable,
borne witness to tragedy,
my soul set aflame.
And yet, by the strength
of the human condition,
I am still here.
Still rising, still hoping,
with your spirit as my guide.