Dear Donor,

I would like to invite you to participate in a public safety event for young women here in the Fox Valley area on April 25th, 2023. The “Women in Public Safety Day: Investing Today for a Safer Tomorrow” is a one-day event that gives participants a first-hand account of careers in public safety. This event is returning for the third year and will be hosted by Fox Valley Technical College at the Public Safety Training Center. The day will provide young women ages 15 to 21 a hands-on experience led by local women in the professions of police, fire/EMT, corrections, dispatch, and public safety support roles. The day will provide career exploration opportunities and one on one mentorship to attendees.

You can help us make this third annual event memorable and sustainable by donating. We are looking to provide participants with meaningful, curated care packages to commemorate their experience. Some ideas we have explored are tumblers, journals, t-shirts, socks, keychains, and customized bags. We are also seeking funding for lunch, refreshments, and printed materials. We want the program to have a lasting impression long after the day of participation.

Public safety has always been comprised of a small percentage of women which means they are less visible to the community. We must look to the future and the next generation of women to improve this number. This event will empower attendees to be comfortable in knowing that all women are equally capable of excelling in challenging and often critical careers.

Your participation will help us to create an impact on young women. This event will set the stage for future events, mentorship, and recognition of those who attend in their respective communities. The demographics we hope to change will not happen overnight, but this program will be one small step in the right direction.

Appreciatively,

Lt. Meghan Cash #9135
